

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The use of micro-optics on a substrate located in proximity to the detector focal plane array. The micro-optics are formed on the front-side and/or backside of the substrate and a micro-optic effect onto the detector elements without the need to apply micro-optics directly to the detector focal plane array.

5